WHAT IS RECYCLED PET FELT?

PET (Polyethylene terephthalate) is a type of plastic. As long as it is not mixed with other materials, it can be recycled many times. In high temperatures, PET becomes liquid and can be easily shaped, helped by the fact that it quickly hardens.

- FUNCTION & STYLE: The felt material in a unisex colourway is a step up from plastic or metal organisers. The soft surface dampens rattling and bumping, preventing damage and clattering.
- ORGANIZED EVERY DAY: Bring order to your day, whether at home or at the office. The organiser is perfect to tidy up desk drawers, dressing areas, cupboards, bedsides or console tables.

about the sustainability of
RECYCLED
STAINLESS STEEL

Stainless steel is 100% recyclable, and it can be recycled without any loss of quality. This means that stainless steel products can be used, recycled, and reused indefinitely.

According to the International Stainless Steel Forum (ISSF), about 85% of stainless steel is recycled at the end of its life. This high recycling rate is attributed to its economic value and the well-established recycling infrastructure.

The recycling process consumes about 33% less energy compared to the production from raw materials. Significantly reduces environmental impact. It conserves raw materials, reduces energy consumption, and lowers greenhouse gas emissions.

Conserving Our World with RECYCLED ALUMINUM

Aluminum may be the most versatile product and building material on the planet.

It is lightweight and highly flexible, but also super-strong when combined with other metals such as magnesium, copper, molybdenum and silicon. It is non-magnetic, has high thermal conductivity, and is extremely resistant to corrosion. It can be easily cast, machined, bent, welded, tapered and alloyed, and it does not degrade with repeated reuse.

THE PROCESS OF RECYCLING ALUMINUM:

“On a worldwide basis, approximately 67% of all aluminum cans purchased by consumers are recycled, which makes these cans the most recycled container in the world”

MANUFACTURING PROCESS

ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT RECYCLING WHEAT STRAW MATERIAL

1 COLLECTION AND CLEANING

Wheat straw is collected post-harvest and cleaned to remove impurities.

2 PULPING

The cleaned straw undergoes a pulping process to break it down into fibers, which can then be molded or processed into various products.

RECYCLED MILK CARTON MATERIAL

Recycled milk carton material, also known as poly-coated paperboard, is a composite material primarily made from paper fibers, with a thin layer of polyethylene (plastic) and, in some cases, aluminum. These cartons, commonly used for packaging milk, juice, and other beverages, are collected, sorted, and processed to create a versatile and sustainable raw material.

The journey of a recycled milk carton begins in the recycling bin. Once collected, the cartons are transported to a recycling facility where they undergo a series of processes:

SORTING

Cartons are separated from other recyclables to ensure a clean, uncontaminated stream of material.

PULPING

The cartons are mixed with water in a large blender, breaking them down into a slurry.

SCREENING

The slurry is screened to remove any remaining contaminants. The paper fibers are then cleaned and prepared for reuse.

REFORMING

The clean paper fibers are pressed and dried to form new paper products or materials like construction boards and tissues.
